

CDM Co-ordinator - Countrywide

Project:
CDM Co-ordinator
Location:
Countrywide
Client:
Private & Public Sector
Consulting Engineer:
Alan Wood & Partners

Description:

Alan Wood & Partners have acted in the role of CDM Co-ordinator (formally Planning Supervisor) since the inception of the original regulations in 1994 and a number of the surveyors and engineers have gained extensive experience.

A necessary part of the regulations is that the CDM Co-ordinator can verify their own competence in addition to confirming the competency of the other parties to the project. To demonstrate our competence we have several members of staff who are registered to be on the list of approved CDM Co-ordinators administered by the Association for Project Safety (RMAPS).

The size of commissions worked upon range from the smallest projects to which the regulations apply up to large multi-million pound projects.

Frequently the role of CDM Co-ordinator is requested of Alan Wood & Partners as an extension to the brief as Structural or Civil Engineers, but an increasing number of commissions are being awarded to us to be the CDM Co-ordinator in isolation.

Typical projects include repeat commissions for domestic disabled adaptations by Hull City Council, repeat commissions for development and refurbishment projects by the Hull and East Yorkshire Hospitals Trust, and large industrial projects for commercial clients.
